DEADLOCK IN PACT SCHEME TO STOP WARS

France, United States Can't Agree on Kind of Wars to Be Outlawed

NEED DEFINITION

European Nation Denounces Wars of Aggression but Not of Defense

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1928 Post Pub. Co.

Washington.—Negotiations between France and the United States looking toward a treaty to renounce war have thus far been more or less in a deadlock because of an inability to agree on what kind of war should be outlawed.

France insists that wars of "aggression" should be denounced and that wars of defense should not be included. The United States has been endeavoring to make the definition all-inclusive. But is ready to recognize the difficulties which France and other nations have because they may feel obligated under the league of nations covenant to go to war under certain circumstances.

The question then is whether a definition can be written which on the one hand will satisfy the United States and which on the other will harmonize with the obligations which members of the league feel toward each other. The solution may be found in the language used by Senator Capper of Kansas, Republican, who has introduced a resolution which would require nations to consider all wars as wars of aggression, but with the object in fact, failed to avail itself of opportunity to submit the dispute to arbitration and other diplomatic machinery for the adjustment of the dispute. In other words, if a nation refuses mediation and insists on going to war against another state without giving an opportunity for mediation in either country really to set up a corrective process of peace-making, then an act of aggression is clearly proved.

With some such definition as this in mind, the American government may discuss with France advisability of keeping the word aggression in negotiation for a definition of what constitutes aggression. In order to get universal agreement on this point, the United States favors consulting the major powers of the world, believing that if their views are ascertained in advance, it will be easier to draft later a multilateral treaty. The United States government has made it clear that the proposed outlawry of war should not be confined to two nations because that means restricting the power of those two nations, while perhaps involving one or the other in embarrassments if a conflict should break out between other powers that might conceivably involve the United States or France on either side.

The disposition of the American government is to continue the conversations in the hope of arriving at a formula which will tend to bring the movement to outlaw war closer to the practical task of treaty-making.

OCOONTO YOUTH FREED ON ASSAULT CHARGES

Elkader, Ia.—(AP)—Although he was said by county officials to have confessed that he had attempted to attack a Margaret, Ia., high school girl, Edward E. Carriere, of Oconto, Wis., was released from jail Tuesday, his attorneys having established what officers termed a "perfect alibi."

Carriere and citizens of Parkersburg, Ia., established that he was in that town on the night of Feb. 18, when the alleged attack took place at Varnette. He was arrested in LaCrosse, Wis., several days later and taken to Parkersburg, where he was held.

Confession that followed, Carriere said, was given because he was afraid of officers.

MILWAUKEE'S RICHEST YOUTH WANTS TO WORK

New York.—(AP)—William Woods Plankinton, 21, Milwaukee's richest young man, would rather work in New York for $20 a week than live off the $4,000,000 he recently inherited from his father. He is employed on the new Grand Central building being erected by his grandfather, J. C. Stewart, hearing to be a construction engineer. "I want to be independent of the trust fund, I want to make my own money, out of my own work," he said.

WANT FRANCE TO AGREE TO ABOLISH WAR

Kellogg Says Pact Between U. S. and France Wouldn't Violate League Treaty

Washington.—(AP)—Renewing his plea that France join with the United States in laying the groundwork for a treaty prescribing war between the principal powers, Secretary Kellogg has sent another note to France in which he opposes the contention that such a pact would violate her obligations under the League of Nations.

France has maintained doubt whether, as a member of the league and a party to the League's "other treaties" guaranteeing neutrality, she could enter into a multilateral treaty outlawing war as an instrument of national policy without running afoul of these obligations.

In his latest note, Secretary Kellogg argues that the only difference between a bi-lateral and a multi-lateral treaty to abolish war is "one of degree and not of substance," and declares the United States is indifferent to the precise language to be used in the proposed pact so long as it "clearly and unmistakably sets forth the determination of the parties to abolish war among themselves."

Taking up France's admission that she saw no bar to the conclusion of an unqualified anti-war treaty with the United States alone, the note declares that any government free to conclude such a treaty "should be no less able to become a party to an identical multi-lateral treaty since it is hardly to be presumed that members of the league of nations are in a position to do separately something they cannot do together."

"If, however, members of the League of Nations cannot, without violating the terms of the covenant of the league, agree among themselves and with the government of the United States to renounce war as an instrument of their national policy," the note adds, "it seems idle to discuss either bi-lateral or multi-lateral treaties unreservedly renouncing war."

Washington.—(AP)—With her blunt nose buffeting still northeast trade winds that helped her on the southward journey, the dirigible Lee-Annie was sailing slowly homeward Wednesday after a 2,295-mile non-stop flight to the Canal Zone.

Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl planned to moor to the tender Patoka, anchored in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, about 10 miles from Panama, take on fuel and perhaps make a few lateral excursions over Cuba before starting up the coast for the 1,500 miles journey to Lakehurst. A flight over Havana was regarded as probable.

With the wind against her over the Caribbean, the dirigible will require a much longer time for the homeward voyage than the 40 hours needed on the trip, her commander thought. She would not reach the Patoka until noon Wednesday, nearly 40 hours after her departure from France dock in the Canal Zone.

Chicago.—(AP)—Jimmy Capasso was not at the breakfast table with his parents and five brothers and sisters Wednesday.

His father has been out of work. His kin were hungry, and Jimmy, 15, was unsuccessful in his search for work.

Police found the boy with a bullet wound in his chest. Nearby was a rusty revolver, the trigger loosened with olive oil.

"You shot yourself," detectives told Jimmy, "because you couldn't find work and thought there'd be one less to feed at home."

"Don't tell them that," pleaded the boy in a hospital. "Just say somebody shot at me and I won't be home." He has a slim chance for recovery, physicians said.

STEVENS POINT TO HAVE CITY MANAGER SAYS LAWYERS

IN $133,000 ROBBERY

Charles "Lumpy" Cleaver (center) is pictured shackled to a wall as he was led into the Federal building at Chicago the other day for a hearing regarding the $133,000 mail robbery staged on a Grand Tour of the Midwest. Seventeen thousand dollars was found in Cleaver's home and he was identified as one of the gang's leaders.

Kindness Rewarded When Robber's Wife Testifies

Chicago.—(AP)—A police officer Tuesday night offered to take care of Mrs. Katherine Cleaver's canaries and her dog while she is detained in the Evergreen Park mail train robbery investigation. Seventeen minutes later she had given him details on which a federal grand jury indicted her husband, Charles (Lumpy) Cleaver, William Donovan and Frank (Doc) Meecia.

"I was kind to her. That's how I got Katherine Cleaver's confession," said Lieutenant Naughton.

"She reminded me, as I sat there, of my own mother. I wouldn't want to know she was lying. I told Mrs. Cleaver so. Then she began to cry."

"You are very kind," she said. Then she told her story.

Mrs. Cleaver's story was that she ordered Cleaver, Donovan, Meecia and three others, whose names have been withheld, portions of the mail of Feb. 20. The train to Chicago, carrying another seventeen men, was held by the Cleaver-Lumpy gang, she said, at which details were completed.

Mrs. Cleaver told the officers that Donovan's wife gave the gangway by calling the Cleaver home a few hours after the robbery and saying she had been over the "bad check" that had been made. The Cleaver telephone wires had been tapped by police.

"Charles Cleaver went with me when I told him she had called," Mrs. Cleaver said. "The federal men came and I guess the police went to that house a little later."

Tuesday night's indictments established efforts to force Cleaver, Donovan and Meecia, and three others, whose names have been withheld, portions of the mail of Feb. 20. The train to Chicago, carrying another seventeen men, was held by the Cleaver-Lumpy gang, she said, at which details were completed.

TWO MORE WORKERS DIE IN PITTSBURG MINE FEUD

Pittsburg, Pa.—(AP)—Pittsburg's mine union feud has claimed four lives in the last two months.

Alex Campbell, chief weighman and union leader at No. 4 colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal Co., and Peter Kelly, treasurer of local 1700, United Mine Workers of America, were killed with bullets fired by unidentified assailants late Tuesday as they approached Campbell's home in an automobile. Both were dead when police reached the scene a few minutes later.

Campbell, formerly a member of the International Board of the United Mine Workers and Kelly were leaders of a faction of the union called which had been vigorously opposing the contract mining system in vogue in the Pittsburg district. Their slaying is believed by the authorities to have been in retaliation for the killing of Frank Agata, a district organizer, who was shot to death ten days ago in the district sub-headquarters in Wilkes-Barre.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTORS DELIGHT AUDIENCE WITH ROARING COMEDY

Juniors in "Puppy Love" Show More Than Amateur Skill

Juniors of Appleton high school presenting their class play Monday evening, kept an audience that packed the theatre in laughter from start to finish, often causing such gales of mirth that they were forced to hold their lines for several seconds. The class presented the three-act comedy, "Puppy Love," and the work of the entire cast was above the average of a high school production.

The leads were played by Robert Neller as Byron Lockhart and Miss Norma Nemachek as Jean Brent, his sweetheart, whom an anxious parent attempted to keep from seeing Byron. Their work was excellent and their "puppy love" scenes caused much of the interest in the play. Not far behind the leads was work of Miss Ruth Cohen as Medora the "third help," whose humorous lines were responsible for most of the mirth of the audience.

Helen Snyder played the part of Mrs. Brent, Jean's mother, whose major worry was the romance of her daughter and young Lockhart while she is trying to capture the affections of a bachelor, Charlie Cavendish, played by Jack Schlegel. Miss Snyder carried the part of the anxious society mother almost perfectly and Mr. Schlegel's work as a bachelorette also shines as an optimist, also made a decided hit with his audience.

Sylvanus Polard, a typical hen-pecked husband was played by Carl Wetzel and his craving for a little "cider" while his wife is a strong prohibitionist as a leader in the Mayfield Women's club, added interest to the play. His ability to drive a car which ends in a crash also was a feature of the play. The part of his wife was well played by Miss Jean Embrey.

Comedy situations were well handled by Nathan Spector as Andy Baxter, a garage man and justice of the peace, Robert Mueller, as Arthur Merk, a small town favorite, who would do almost anything to "land" Jean Brent, and Ivy, a hotel stenographer, played by Miss Cabot. Miss Cabot was the typical hard-boiled stenographer of the small town hotel and her work in that part was above the average.

The fine work of the youthful actors and actresses was largely due to the work of Miss Ruth McKennan, director of the play. The lines were given without a falter and spectators declared the play one of the best amateur productions presented here in several years.

Music between the acts was furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of E. C. Moore. Robert Elias was student financial manager; Miss Minnie Rader, faculty financial manager; John Doherty, business manager; Stephen McMahon, student advertising manager; Keith Kopp, student advertising manager; Norman Zanzig, student stage manager; Harry Cameron, faculty stage manager; Miss Monica Van Dyke, property manager, and Miss Adele Steinhauser, assistant property manager.

STATE MUST GIVE MONEY FOR "KIDS"

Discontinue Juvenile Department if Lawmakers Refuse to Help

Madison—(P)—Discontinuance of the juvenile department, crippling of the probation system, and limitation of the work of the psychiatric department of the board of control will be brought about if the special session of the legislature opening Mar. 6 does not appropriate "sufficient funds," for their work Miss Harriet Grim, member of the board said Wednesday.

"Much of the present active and restorative program of the board must go into the discard" unless the special session appropriates these "sufficient funds," Miss Grim said. She named no amount.

Her statements regarding the abandonment of the juvenile department were approved by Aubrey Williams, secretary of the state conference of social work, who said "appropriations made by the legislature at this special session should take account of a long-time and constructive plan for the needs of our socially incapable. It would be nothing short of a tragedy if the juvenile department, on which depends so much the safety of unfortunate children of the state were to be discontinued at this time."

Miss Grim stated that the probation officers are now taking care of 100 cases apiece, "twice as much as they might reasonably be expected to handle," and that a small appropriation would cause at least two of those officers, who have been employed under a saving from a certain portion of the funds, to be released.

CRANDON EDITOR FREED FROM ONE LIBEL CHARGE

A case of criminal libel against Herman Kronschmidt, editor of the Forest County Republican, was dismissed by Justice H. H. Mohr at Crandon Tuesday.

Kronschmidt recently was charged with collecting $200 for publication of legal matter in two publications when the two really were one. This charge was dismissed by Justice Edgar V. Werner in circuit court here on condition that Kronschmidt pay back $150 and $20 court costs.

A third suit for $2000 damages "charging libel" had been filed against the editor of the Republican by the district attorney of Forest county, whom the publisher is said to have called a "lone handed hunt of innocent citizens." This case is pending in circuit court.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; colder in east portion tonight.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
A low pressure area moving eastward along the Canadian border has caused cloudiness and some snow flurries over the lake region. Another low pressure area, however, is developing over the southern plains, with increasing cloudiness in that section, but while it gives indication of becoming a storm of some energy, it is doubtful if its influence will reach this section. High pressure covers the northwest, with unsettled weather conditions, but with moderate temperatures. The "lull" appears to be advancing towards this section, which would indicate generally fair weather here tonight and Thursday, with slightly low or temperature tonight.

WOMANS CLUB HERE TO AID FIGHT FOR PLAGUE PREVENTION

Local Manufacturers Also to Cooperate With Anti-Tuberculosis Association

The health department of Appleton Women's club will give its support to the National Tuberculosis association in its nationwide campaign for the early diagnosis of tuberculosis, which will begin as soon as material such as posters, circulars, and stationery, arrive from the state association.

The national association has appropriated over $30,000 to provide poster material, pamphlets, moving pictures, films and similar material. The Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association has decided to promote all of this material to the local associations and, in addition, is making a substantial appropriation for special supplies.

Local sale managers are being asked to take responsibility for carrying out the local program by taking individual charge of or appointing committee men. The health department of Appleton Women's club, of which Mrs. William Nemachek is chairman, will sponsor the campaign in Appleton.

Tremendous gains have been made against tuberculosis in Wisconsin during the past 20 years but this is not enough, according to the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. Members of the Wisconsin Manufacturers association have been asked for cooperation in the project. Several Appleton firms have responded and asked for supplies for the campaign. They are Steinberg Knitting Mills, Appleton.

KREISLER'S VIOLINS ARE CENTURIES OLD

Instruments Made by Famous European Makers Many Years Ago

Fritz Kreisler, famous violinist who will play here Tuesday, March 6, at Lawrence Memorial chapel, is the possessor of four extraordinary violins.

One is a rather small Stradivarius, not large in tone but exquisite in quality, which he uses often for recitals in small halls. The second is a Gagliani, also the work of one of the earliest and most famous of the Italian violin makers who flourished in Florence in the first half of the seventeenth century.

Another, made by Josef Guarneri, del Gesu, was formerly the property of the great Wilhelm. "This Guarneri is one of the finest instruments in existence and it would be difficult to compute its value in dollar and cents. It is a large instrument with the big mellow tone characteristic of its kind, and Kreisler uses it almost entirely when he plays with orchestras.

The fourth is a Joseph Guarnerius of 1743, long held at a fabulous figure by the House of Hill of London. He has other instruments but these are the most famous.

TOOK DOCTOR'S ADVICE —COLD GONE NEXT DAY

Many Here Find Way to End Colds Overnight at Home by Hospital Tested Method

By taking the advice of her doctor and using a method that has relieved even the most extreme hospital cases, Miss Anna L. White, like numbers of Appleton people, found the quickest way to get rid of a stuffy cold.

Miss White, for example, had neglected her cold several days in the hope that it would clear up of its own accord. Instead, it started settling in nose passages and chest. She began to feel feverish, and finally called the family physician for advice, when her mother feared pneumonia.

Relief began almost immediately when the doctor gave her double doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of wild cherry, turpentine and other ingredients used in treating even the most extreme hospital cases. She felt its comforting warmth instantly—from her nose passages deep down into her chest. In a few hours the redness of her eyes was gone; her nose passages began to clear up and in another day or so, the doctor reports the cold was completely gone.

Note: See other cases reported daily—all certified to this paper by the attending physician.

Doctors find that this hospital medicine does far more than stop coughing instantly. It penetrates and heals inflamed linings of the breath, it quickly reduces phlegm, helps allay that "fervid," sticky feeling and drives out the cold from the nose passages, throat and chest. Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Cherry Pectoral now and you'll feel like a different person tomorrow. Endorsed by Schmitt Bros., and all druggists, 60¢ twice as much in $1.00 hospital size.

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS
JOHN F. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York County
MARGARET ODELL, (THE "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEVER, A MAN-about-town
KENNETH SPOTSWOOD, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an imposter
DR. AMBROSE LINQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau

THE STORY THUS FAR
 Vance has his own theories about criminal procedure and he tells them to his friend Markham, who is considerably worried over the crime situation in New York. Then the newspapers announce the murder of Margaret Odell, known as the "Canary," former Police girl and reigning Broadway beauty. Markham turns to Vance for help and they visit the "Canary" apartment.

CHAPTER III
 As Markham entered the Odell apartment that afternoon, Sergeant Ernest Heath came forward at once and extended his hand. A look of relief passed over his broad, pug-nosed features and it was obvious that the animosity and rivalry which always exist between the detective division and the district attorney's office during the investigation of any criminal case had no place in his attitude on this occasion.

"I'm glad you've come," he said and meant it.
 He then turned to Vance with a cordial smile and held out his hand. "So the amateur sleuth is with us again!" His tone held a friendly banter.
 "Oh, quite," murmured Vance. "How's your induction and working this beautiful September morning, Sergeant?"

"I'd hate to tell you!" Then Heath's face grew suddenly grave, and he turned to Markham. "It's a raw deal, sir. Why in hell couldn't they have picked some one besides the Canary for their dirty work? There's plenty of Janes on Broadway who could have faded from the picture without causing a second alarm but they gotta go and hang off the Queen of Sheba!"

As he spoke, William M. Moran, the commanding officer of the detective bureau, came into the little foyer and performed the usual hand-shaking ceremony. Though he had met Vance and me but once before, and then casually, he remembered us both and addressed us courteously by name.

"Your arrival," he said to Markham, in a well-bred, modulated voice, "is very welcome. Sergeant Heath will give you what preliminary information you want. I'm still pretty much in the dark myself—only just arrived."
 "A lot of information I've got to give," grumbled Heath, as he led the way into the living-room.

Margaret Odell's apartment was a suite of two fairly large rooms connected by a wide archway, draped with heavy damask portieres. The entrance door from the main hall of the building led into a small rectangular foyer about eight feet long and four feet deep, with double Venetian-glass doors opening into the main room beyond. There was no other entrance to the apartment, and the bedroom could be reached only through the archway from the living-room.

There was a large davenport, covered with brocaded silk, in front of the fireplace in the left-hand wall of the living-room. With a long narrow library-table of mahogany rosewood, extending along its back. On the opposite wall, between the foyer and the archway into the bedroom, hung a triplicate Marie Antoinette mirror, beneath which stood a mahogany gate-legged table.

On the far side of the archway, near the large oriel window, was a baby grand Steinway piano with a beautifully designed and decorated case of Louis XV. ornamentation. In the corner to the right of the fireplace was a spindle-legged exercise table and a square handpainted waste-paper basket of vellum.

 To the left of the fireplace stood one of the loveliest Boule cabinets I have ever seen. Several excellent reproductions of Boucher, Fragonard and Watteau hung about the walls. The bedroom contained a chest of drawers, a dressing-table, and several gold-leaf chairs. The whole apartment seemed eminently in keeping with the Canary's fragile and evanescent personality.

As we stepped from the little foyer into the living-room and stood for a moment looking about, a scene of derelict wreckage met our eyes. The rooms had apparently been ransacked by some one in a frenzy of haste, and the disorder of the place was appalling.

"They didn't exactly do the job in dainty fashion," remarked Inspector Moran.
 "I suppose we ought to be grateful they didn't blow the joint up with dynamite," returned Heath amiably.
 But it was not the general disorder that most attracted us. Our eyes were almost immediately drawn and held by the body of the dead girl, which rested in an unusual, semi-recumbent attitude in the corner of the davenport nearest to where we stood. Her head was turned backward, as if by force, over the stiffened tufted upholstery, and her hair had come unstuck and lay beneath her head in an untidy, but bare, disheveled fashion. Her face, in violent death, was distorted and unlovely. Her skin was discolored; her eyes were staring; her mouth was open and her lips were drawn back. Her neck, on either side of the distorted cartilage, showed only dark bruises. She was dressed in a flimsy evening gown of black Chantilly lace over cream-colored chiffon and across the arm of the davenport had been thrown an evening cape of cloth-of-gold trimmed with ermine.

There were evidences of her ineffectual struggle with the person who had strangled her. Besides the disheveled condition of her hair, one of the shoulder-straps of her gown had been severed and there was a long rent in the fine lace across her breast. A small corsage of artificial orchids had been torn from her bodice and lay crumpled in her lap. One satin slipper had fallen off and her right knee was curled inward on the seat of the davenport, as if she had sought to lift herself out of the suffocating clutches of her antagonist.

Her fingers were stiff, flexed, no doubt as they had been at the moment of her capitulation to death, when she had relinquished her grip upon the murderer's wrist.
 The spell of horror cast over us by the sight of the tortured body was broken by the matter-of-fact tones of Heath.

"You see, Mr. Markham, she was evidently sitting in the corner of this settee when she was grabbed suddenly from behind."

Markham nodded. "It must have taken a pretty strong man to strangle her so easily."

"I'll say!" agreed Heath. He bent over and pointed to the girl's fingers on which showed several abrasions. "They stripped her rings off, too; and they didn't go about it gentle, either." Then he indicated a segment of fine platinum chain, set with tiny pearls, which hung over one of her shoulders. "And they grabbed whatever it was hanging round her neck and broke her chain doing it. They weren't overlooking anything, or losing anyone a swell, gentlemanly job. Nice and refined."

"Where's the Medical Examiner?" asked Markham.
 "He's coming," Heath told him. "You can't get Doc Doremus to go anywhere without his breakfast."
 "He may find something else—something that doesn't show."

"There's plenty showing for me," declared Heath. "Look at this apartment. It wouldn't be much worse if a Kansas cyclone had struck it."
 We turned from the davenport spectacle of the dead girl and moved toward the center of the room.
 "Be careful not to touch anything," Mr. Markham warned me. "I've sent for the fingerprint experts—they'll be here any minute now."

Vance looked up in mock astonishment. "Fingerprints? You don't say— If I had any good honest-to-God finger prints on this devastated area, it's probable in this cellars-to-day I'd have his fingerprints for you to find."

"All things come to pass," Mr. Vance declared. He then continued: "Oh, dear! That's a pity. I supposed if they were here, they'd all, Sergeant, even an extensive fingerprint book, means that the person who murdered this girl was a right smart fellow. It doesn't indicate guilt."

"Maybe so," said Heath doggedly. "But I'm going to tell you that

ANOTHER CALENDAR PLAN
Dr. A. R. Crook, curator of the Illinois State museum, at Springfield, has a calendar which he worked out some time ago and which is said to have met the approval of a number of Illinois leaders. He has been moved to present his proposal to the state academy of science once more by the fact that calendar reform has recently been undertaken by the League of Nations at Geneva.

Critics of the present calendar point out that it disagrees with the astronomical seasons, that its months are of different lengths, that the days of the week and days of the month do not harmonize, so that holidays are not fixed in the week.

Dr. Crook's plan differs from that of the League in that he suggests 12 months while the League proposes a year of 13 months. Of his 12 months, eight would have 30 days and four would have 31. The four seasons would each comprise 91 days. He would have one extra day at the end of each year—the League calendar puts the extra day between two summer months.

It is obvious that calendar reform is coming. People have heard enough on the subject now to arouse their interest and lessen their instinctive prejudice against any sort of change. It is becoming simply a choice among new plans.

BRITISH MOVIES
When foreign movie producers have complained that too many American films were shown in their theaters, the American reply has always been, "Well, let them make better pictures than ours and maybe their public will look at them."

Apparently the challenge has been accepted in England. The British government is helping the producers financially. A definite campaign is on, with a budget of about $10,000,000 to start, to attract big directors and actors from this country. Rex Ingram, Alice Terry, Syd Chaplin and others are already at work in England and rumor hints that others may leave Hollywood for a while to have a try overseas.

The British company has begun with a picture called "The Battles of Coronel and the Falkland Islands." It is said to be historical, presenting with vivid workmanship the stirring, gripping facts of an authentic page of British naval history. It is as dramatic as any fictional photograph. It is a first-class picture, to be followed by others. This sort of competition does not worry the picture-going public at all. It stands to profit through better pictures, better made, both here and abroad.

RUMANIA
Every so often the average newspaper reader lifts his eyes from his paper and wonders audibly why in thunder there is so much stuff printed about Rumania. Probably he concludes that the country must have a good press agent.

Rumania before the war was distinctly a minor nation. Since then, however, it has occupied an important position in European affairs. It is more than twice as large and twice as populous as it was before 1914. Its position as one of the middle-sized states in Europe, and its very strategic geography location, have made it important in European politics.

Rumania expanded at the expense of Hungary and Russia. These countries would like to get their territories back; Rumania, naturally, wants to keep them. The result is a game of alliances and diplomatic schemings. The peace of Europe rests in no small measure on what Rumania and her enemies do.

Hence the nation has an importance far greater than it had before the war. Which, of course, is why the details of its internal troubles get front page space in newspapers.

THE RADIO "TRUST"
The Senate Committee on Patents has been told in its hearings on Senator Dill's bill to forfeit patents used by corporations to violate the anti-trust laws, that a $3,000,000,000 radio trust controls the industry, that under agreements pooling their radio patents, the American Telephone and Telegraph company, the General Electric company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company have carefully and precisely eliminated all competition among themselves in the present radio art and in all future development of it.

There is an old adage that "Competition is the life of trade." It might just as truly be said that competition is the death of trade; it can work either way. By the same token combinations that control the conditions of trade may be either good or bad. A combination to control the conditions of manufacture or trade, or both, is not necessarily bad. Therefore after it is determined that such a combination, commonly designated as a trust exists, it must still be determined whether its intent is good or bad and whether its effect generally is beneficial or detrimental. Until this is determined, it would be eminently unfair to brand the combination, however broad and inclusive, as undesirable.

And in considering this point, the greatest number should be kept in mind. It has come to be recognized that while a trust may eliminate competition between the parties to the combination, wherein there may be some hardship involved to possible outside dealers, that the benefit to the general buying public in the economy effected is so great as to make the combination not only justifiable but desirable. The magnitude of the reported combination, therefore, should not in itself be considered an evil.

HOW TO STUDY YOUR STATE
Two years ago an Illinois normal school announced in its summer school bulletin a field trip for teachers of geography in the schools of that state, saying: "There will be a 15-day travel study of the physiography, native vegetation, influence of climate, use of the land, transportation, mining, manufacturing, points of historical interest and cultural development of Illinois. Class will travel by motor coach, carrying complete camping outfit and chef, and stop at automobile tourist camps. Route covers approximately 2,200 miles. Expenses about $130. Two major credits as electives in geography when a satisfactory written report is filed."

Forty prospective teachers embarked on this trip and studied their own state thoroughly. When the summer was over, five of them went to colleges for further training. The other 35 went into class rooms to teach geography. They found themselves doing it with more understanding and enthusiasm than ever before. The experiment was successful.

The second summer the "field trip" was extended to 20 days. There were more than twice as many applicants as could be accepted. The trip went outside the state, covering much of the northeastern part of this country, going as far as Boston. A similar expedition is planned for the coming summer.

It is not so very long since geography in school was chiefly a memorizing stunt, with the pupils learning names of innumerable rivers and countries and cities and mountain ranges and reciting them in a sing-song tone. Tying up geography with industrial, agricultural and social development is comparatively new. It looks like such a reasonable and simple approach to an important subject that one wonders why it was not tried years ago.

TRANSATLANTIC AIR MAIL
United States mails will be carried across the Atlantic by air as early as next May, according to Secretary of Commerce Hoover. A British firm will place a giant 100-passenger dirigible into service then, and the American government will co-operate.

That's fine. But our national pride is a bit touchy. Wouldn't it be fine if this country, too, would build a few of those monster airships for transatlantic service?

THE MEDICINE THAT BREAKS UP THE CRI
I know, writes a correspondent who thinks he "takes cold very easily," that when my boy was in camp the last summer they gave him some medicine that broke up a cold immediately. Will good old Dr. Brady not tell us what that medicine is?

Nope.

The old doctor doesn't know.

One must find a doctor who is subject to Billings' complaint—he can probably tell you what will break up anything you have. Pneumonia, typhoid, who you just pays your money and takes your choice.

Doubtless, too, some of our great medical savants (at least they make a noise like savants in the newspapers), who are forever organizing and conducting these nation wide intensive "campaigns" to find the cause and of course the cure for what they vaguely call "the common cold," can tell you, in words of not less than four syllables, how to break up whatever it may be.

One amiable old quack kindly consented to let the people believe he had "never lost a case of pneumonia." When the pneumonia patients started off they had heart failure or something. This doctor was so faithful to his patients, so lovable, that whatever he said was never doubted. Probably such bombast on the part of us physicians accounts for the belief that some remedy will "break up" a specific illness if you get the right remedy.

I have studied the newspapers, as doctors call the art of treatment, long and earnestly. I don't know quite all of it, but I flatter myself I know enough to come in out of the rain of humbug that falls constantly on the medical profession these days. If I had heart disease of any kind, with decomposition, I'd rather not take any digitals or similar medicine.

I wouldn't take it unless my doctor insisted on it. I have no earthly use for castor oil, as you might say I have said here now and again, but when I was sick and my doctor deemed a beaker of it "indicated," I downed it with the nearest imitation of a cheerful grin I could manage.

Oh, yes, we still have some "specifics" in the materia medica. Quinine is a pretty good specific for malaria—enough quinine at the right time will "break up" cure malaria. Honestly, though, I say this, because, alas for my faith, I recall the chap with beautiful tertian fever in his blood and a typical intermittent fever, who insisted on getting well in a few days although we gave him some capsules of plain salts by way of medicine. And what was more marvellous, he had no relapse and no more blood malaria. He was cured. I don't know as one could expect the most potent specific to cure him. Still, I'd want plenty of quinine if I had malaria, and I wouldn't want any quinine if I had grippe or any form of cri.

I hope you will see that I am not prejudiced, for or against medicines, either in medical hands or such remedies as a layman may properly use on his own account.

Up to and including the sodium bicarbonate treatment lately revived in the newspapers, there is no remedy which will "break up" or positively help any kind of cri, even that mysterious kind that the savants in the big drive call "the common cold."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Backheads and Pimples
I have been afflicted with very oily greasy skin, blackheads and pimples for two years. One doctor said I was anemic. Is this the cause? What would be a good anemic diet? (L. D. W.)

Answer—No, anemia isn't the cause, for most healthy boys and girls have more or less of the same trouble, though they are not anemic. Repeat your complaint and enclose a stamped envelope bearing your address, and I'll send you instructions. I will not give this information promiscuously.

What's a Kiss More or Less?
I am 21 and I suppose good looking, for nearly every man I meet flatters me profusely until he finds I will not get. Then he leaves me cold and proceeds to devote his attention to my friends. They do not object to affectionate demonstrations and they tell me I am foolish. I am in earnest when I say to know if there are men in the world who admire a girl who will not get. (H. C.)

Answer—Well, to remember that a boy will "try out" a girl he is getting interested in, and he feels horribly disappointed and is "off" that girl if she falls for the temptation. Not a fair thing, of course, but it seems to be customary. (Mrs. A. R. T.)

Answer—Well, anyway, a young man hates to marry a "petter" unless it is a veritable sap.

Yawning
Should like to know exact cause yawning. (F. W. M.)

Answer—Suboxidation, ennuil, foul air, need of exercise, laziness, overworked air, excessive clothing, overeating, boredom. Get out and run around the block with no more than the usual amount of cover. Your yawns will stop. If you can't do that, then do the Brady Symphony between a couple of open windows.

Fruit at Bedtime
Is it harmful to eat an orange at bedtime? Will it help to counteract acid in the stomach? (E. A. M.C.D.)

Answer—It is all right to eat oranges or other fruit at bedtime if you do not have indigestion. It tends to acidify the stomach, but such fruit tends to produce acidosis, acid retention in the system.

LOOKING BACKWARD
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Wednesday, March 4, 1903
The marriage of Clarence Currie and Miss Mela Schreck took place the preceding evening at the Congregational church, parsonage. Miss Lena Schreck was bridesmaid and Henry Gass best man. After the ceremony a reception was held for twenty-five friends and relatives at the home of Mrs. Mary Williams.

Twenty-five years ago that day the heaviest snow blizzard of the season occurred. No trains entered the town for three days.

The blizzard season had opened and the new models were in town. Many improvements were noted and the prices were given as $12.00 up to $50.

Mrs. Mary Williams was to leave for New York where she was to study art at the Cooper Institute.

Mrs. J. S. VanNortwick had returned the previous day from Rumania.

The local oratorical contest in which six Lawrence undergraduates were to appear was to have been held at the Methodist church that evening.

TEN YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Feb. 27, 1918
Thirty days were lost when the United States liner Cherokee foundered off the Atlantic coast the previous day. Five soldiers were killed when Cherokee released gas shells and in Russia the Russians had killed back the German invaders and had blown up many bridges.

A meeting of the Glee Club was held the previous evening at the home of Herbert Vockes, 511 Broadway, and letters from Carl Brownman who was attending school at Trinity, Ill., were read. Roy McGregor was accepted as a member and Donald Dyer was placed on the honorary roll.

Dr. L. H. Moore left that day for Kansas City, Mo., where he attended a dental clinic of the Western Dental college.

John Balliet left the previous day for Muskogee, Tulsa, and Wichita Falls, Texas for a few days' business trip.

Ears had taken a drop in price because of the decided change in the weather. Local dealers were paying between 35 and 40 cents a dozen for them.

DAILY HINTS FOR HEALTH
PUPIL'S LUNCH IS IMPORTANT
BY DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene.

One of the questions which most disturb mothers whose children go considerable distances to school is the provision of a satisfactory lunch.

Many mothers wish their children to come home to a hot lunch, but this is not always practicable, particularly in places where only thirty to forty-five minutes may be allowed for the luncheon period. If the lunch time is so short that the child has opportunity only for dashing home, snatching a hasty meal, and returning at once to the school, it is better to carry a suitable lunch and to eat it leisurely.

WHAT EXPERTS SAY
Nutrition experts were to follow, however, advice:

When lunches must be carried to school at the home, the following list of thermos bottles or other containers in which warm food can be carried, but does not need a fire, is a good one: vegetable stew, macaroni and cheese, stewed lima beans, or other similar easily prepared nourishing dish. In addition to a warm food the lunch should provide each of the following:

1.—Milk. At least one-half pint to drink as such, or in cocoa, milk soup, etc.

2.—Protein food, as cheese, cottage cheese, egg or meat. These may be served separately or in sandwiches.

3.—Fruit or vegetable. Fruit is more easily carried and can well be used most of the time, the vegetable being served at the night meal. The fruit may be raw—as a ripe banana, an apple, an orange or a bunch of grapes—or in form of sauce. When the fruit is cooked it is wise to add a few pieces of celery, a whole tomato, or lettuce to provide the desirable element of freshness in the lunch.

4.—A sweet, if desired, as a cookie, a raisin sandwich, jam to eat with bread and butter, a piece or two of candy, a few peanuts or raisins. The sweet should not be overdone, merely a little top-off to the meal.

SUGGESTIONS
Following are some suggestions:

1.—Cocoa (made of milk) one-half to one pint. Peanut butter sandwiches. Ripe banana. Cookies.

2.—Vegetable stew, small amount of meat, peanuts, corn, orange, bread and butter, milk. Red apple. Graham crackers.

3.—Potato soup, lettuce sandwiches. Baked apple. Ginger bread.

4.—Stewed lima beans. Bread and butter. Milk. Ripe peaches. Cup cake.

It must be remembered that merely packing the right lunch is not sufficient. Provision must be made at school for a suitable place and this right atmosphere in which to eat it. The meal may be as hurried and unsatisfactory as before.

BUSINESS IS GOOD, THANK YOU!
New York — There is a hotel in the heart of the Times Square district which despite its accommodations and equipment, has no rooms to rent nor food to sell. It was found that such fat sums could be made by renting out the sides and top of the building for electric signs that would make the White Way brighter, that the idea of running a hotel was given up.

I am told that some bright business men saw the possibilities of this location for signs and purchased it, knowing full well that the building, as a night rental is paid for the signs would so obscure the sunlight from the rooms that it would be difficult to rent them. The ground floor is occupied by stores and there is a little beauty parlor on the first floor. Thereafter the building is completely covered with electric eye catchers.

Which reminds me that a battle is now under way for the preservation of the Great White Way. This New York attraction, which is about the first thing a visitor seeks out, is menaced by city ordinance that would rob Broadway of its splendor. It is impossible to conceive a darkened Broadway. But then, it isn't likely to happen.

Most of the weekly guests in the bus Manhattan hotels bring valuable dogs with them and demand suitable accommodations.

I am told that several of them found these guests so particular about the care of their pets that special service is given for a stipulated sum. A nightly rental is paid for the dog quarters, even as for the room. Meals are served the canines at 50 cents per meal, and special dog experts prepare the food. The kennels are so equipped that they give the traveling puppers every accommodation.

There are few things the big Manhattan hotels overlook. Most of them are equipped with a stock exchange ticker room and board, so that the busy traveler can keep track of his dealings while on the run. Enough of them have tickers in their rooms. Most of the bigger clubs have them, also. The ticker plays a predominant role in the business life of the city.

Gymnasiums, Turkish baths, swimming pools, tennis courts and hand ball courts on the top floors and roofs are the latest novelties.

It is said of Broadway that its producers "never learn." Last season Russell Janney put on an elaborate production of "The Vagabond Prince" and made a healthy fortune. He might have the same result this year. Instead of which he was right back after more. This year his "White Eagle" dropped about $150,000 out of its purse pocket. Which is an old story "on the street."

It is said on Broadway that the on-lookers who see the well-dressed alone were the producers of "The Bar," which made "plenty." And they kept it.

This noon I had lunch with a young lady who informed me it had just cost her $33 to have her hair wrinkled in some way or another. Which extravagance so distressed me that I let her pay the check.

and elsewhere. Some are very ancient. It is believed that they depend on a dew largely for the maintenance of their vitality. Some of them which is used as a supply for cattle. The question is controversial, however, and has been much discussed. Some authorities state that when a new dew-pond is formed it has to be filled with artificial water first and does not come into existence by gradual accumulation of water in an impervious basin.

America expect that the Northern states might sometime join them? We don't know.

A. Jefferson Davis when inaugurated as president said "it is not unreasonable to expect that States from which we have recently parted may seek to unite their fortunes to ours under the government which we have instituted."

Q. How many people received assistance from the Red Cross during the Mississippi flood? L. M.

A. The National Headquarters says that 67,000 persons received emergency assistance from it. The flood area embraced more than 20,000 square miles, of which more than 8,000 square miles were under cultivation.

DIME STORE MAGNATE DONATES HUGE FUND FOR ORPHAN'S CARE

Chain Store Man Is Childless but Has Done Much to Help Little Ones

Detroit—Sebastian S. Kresge, multi-millionaire chain store owner, never had much luck in his efforts to find domestic happiness.

His first marriage ended four years ago in a divorce, with four of his five children going to live with their mother. The second marriage, contracted shortly after the divorce, is now in the divorce court also.

But Kresge loves children and likes to think of any youngsters having to grow up without a home and parental care.

And so he has given the Methodist's Children's Home Society here $725,000 to build an orphanage of a radically different type—a place that will give each child the best imitation of a real home that possibly can be provided.

A tract of 23 acres has been bought just outside the city limits, and in a few weeks a group of cottages will be built there.

FATHERS AND MOTHERS, TOO

Each cottage will house three or four children. A paid woman social worker will live with the children in each cottage looking after them just as a mother would. Married social workers will be chosen as often as possible, so that the husband may live in the cottage also and stand in the relation of a father to the orphans.

Miss Frances Knight, director of the society, who made the plans public, says that each cottage will be as much like a regular home as possible.

"The husband need not be a social worker," she explained. "In fact, he may be anything—an employee of the automobile factories, a carpenter, a musician, or the like, provided that he has a love for children, a good supply of the milk of human kindness and a readiness to give the genuine family atmosphere to their home."

"The children would look for his return to the cottage at nightfall as other children would look for their own father, and with the 'mother' at the home he would share the management just as in a real home."

It was Miss Knight, who first approached Kresge about the gift. She called on his attorney and asked if Kresge would be interested in aiding the society's work. The attorney arranged a meeting, and Kresge promptly pledged nearly three quarters of a million dollars for the work.

VERY FOND OF CHILDREN

Kresge is fond of children and has his own ideas about how they should be raised. It is said that one thing that particularly attracted him to the Methodist's Home Society here was its motto, a quotation from the minutes of a Methodist conference in Delaware in 1775. The quotation is:

"Q. What shall be done with the children? A. Meet them once in a fortnight with regard to their attitude towards them."

It happens that Kresge, who is spending a fortune to provide orphaned children with real homes, has been in the papers a great deal because of his domestic troubles.

His first wife, Anne H. Kresge, divorced him in 1924. The second wife, Doris Kresge, whom he married shortly after his divorce, is now suing for a divorce.

In the first Mrs. Kresge's divorce suit, it is recalled, was the the complaint that Kresge was given to fault-finding, and that he complained frequently over the manner in which she trained their children. In the new cottage-homes the Methodist Society will have the benefit of the most careful training that social workers can give.

There will be, first of all, skilled medical attention to make sure that each child is 100 per cent physically at all times. In addition, the services of the Child Guidance Clinic, which works under the society's auspices, have been offered for use in building character.

"Science, love and religion will blend their forces toward making better childhood and informed and competent parenthood," said an official of the organization.

ALL WILL BE "DRYS"

In this connection, it might be added that all of the men in residence in the cottages will be "drys." Kresge's enthusiasm for the prohibition cause is well known.

"We have embarked on this program in wholesome fashion," says Miss Knight. "In the laboratory we are hoping to turn the tragedies of today into the triumphs of tomorrow."

The children that are cared for by the society come from various places—from street corners, from juvenile court, from bewildered parents whose homes have been split in the divorce courts and from different Methodist churches in Michigan.

A Supreme Court decision of 1895 decided that the Great Lakes come within the legal meaning of the "high seas."

POLITICIANS MUST CONSIDER WOMEN IN SEARCH FOR VOTES

"Pre-election days have changed radically," one of the candidates for a city office lamented the other day. "Years ago when a fellow ran for office all he had to do to get votes was go down the street and treat all the boys in the city's saloons to a good glass of beer—and it took an awful lot of beer to put the job over, too. Nowadays it's a case of get out and present your views some other way or have your friends do it for you. And besides, you've got to convince the women—wonder how we'd have done that years ago when each glass of beer we bought counted heaviest in the way of votes?"

Men Get Mad Then Busy And How

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
We are fearfully and wonderfully made, for a fact, not only physically but mentally. Let us say "mentally" and be done with it, although there is a shade of difference in the meaning.
Do you know that many people are not up to efficiency unless they get mad? Another kind of person can't do his best until he becomes so busy he doesn't know where to turn. The saying "If you want anything done take it to a busy man" is as true as gospel. Then there is another kind of anomaly who lazes around and does not amount to a hill of beans until he gets sick or out of commission in some other way and the latent amount of energy he suddenly develops would keep a dynamo going.
It is hard to explain the reason why a characteristic such as rage should have its uses but it does. Anger will make a hero out of a coward for instance. "The Patient Leather Kid," if you've seen it, illustrates such a case. The boy that turned yellow didn't turn white until, maddened with rage, he did a magnificently brave deed.
"I've heard dozens of men say they can't play golf until they get as mad as hornets and don't give a d—." And boys will tell you the same thing about football and basketball and hockey. Why is it? Are we chuck full of inhibitions and caution to such an extent that we have to have a sort of brain explosion before we can work without being mentally hamstrung? Then there is the busy man who works best when he's busiest. Either the process is similar to the one just mentioned or he learns a clever disregard for detail that enables him to take on a bigger load. Work to him becomes a sort of stabilizer.
The sick person who generates sudden energy, far beyond that which he normally possesses, must not be peevish when I assert that it is just pure cunningness. That's the way our nervous systems work. Put them up against a handicap and they will strain every fibre to overcome that handicap.
Where, say you, has the writer developed such wisdom? By personal experience, sisters, personal experience. I am all of these things and so are you.

STYLE SIDELIGHTS

SPRING STYLES THAT ARE CHIC — BUT SURE!

Women Here Not Swayed By Color Fad

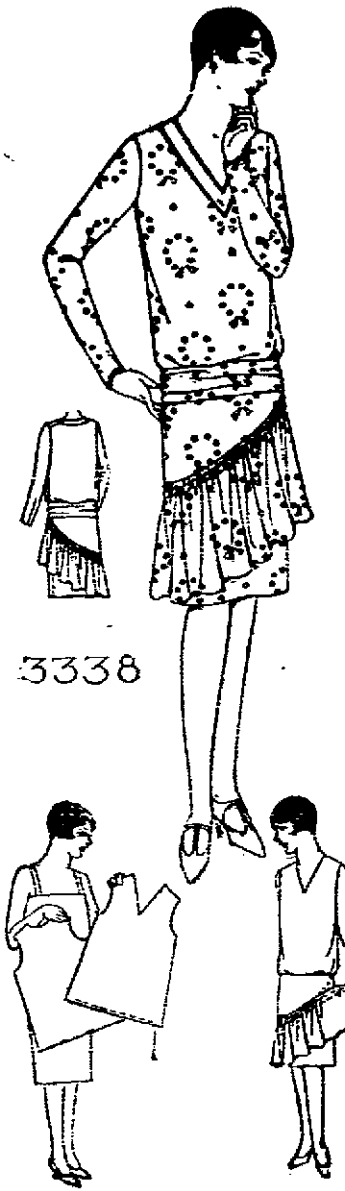

Appleton women are not moved by fashions dictate when they decide on their draperies according to the heads of drapery departments in this city. Gay daring patterns and striking dashing colors are being shown and sold in the drapery departments of the large stores in Chicago and Milwaukee but Appleton women will have none of them. Some of the new materials, it is true, is finding its way into Appleton homes but the popular demand is for conservative, soft tones and colors with conventional patterns.
Dumaks, hand blocked linens and cottons are the favored materials. Shadow crtonnes are new. Flowers, houses, landscapes, geometric designs, are only some of the many designs. The elaborate lambkins of velvet with gold braid, heavy silk fringes have gone and the new materials are made up simply. Valances, or as one shopper asked a saleslady, "balances" and lambkins are replaced by straight side drapes with no overhangings. Wroughtiron rods, or gayly decorated wooden rods are used and the drapes hang on rings from them, usually to the floor.
Salesladies agreed that now housewives prefer to refurbish their homes in fall, for the home is not the background of summer activities. A few years ago they recalled that spring and the housecleaning season was the time when the sewing machines buzzed busily in the drapery departments.

ping Shakespearean productions with gloomy trappings of the sort the immortal Bard's players are supposed to have worn at the Old Globe Theatre.
Half the dramatic criticism of conventional Shakespearean production has been confined to comment on whether the wardrobe and the scenery were in keeping with the traditions of Keene.
"I hope in time we shall be able to get audiences to understand Shakespeare so thoroughly that they will take the plays dressed in any sort of costume. Then we shall be able to talk about the plays, rather than the way we are, producing them."

BEAUTY HOW AND WHY

SOFTENING THE SQUARE FACE
Ann Alys

BY ANN ALYSIS
THE square face generally belongs to people of considerable strength of character and in men is very much admired, though this same quality, if shown too markedly, does not inspire admiration if the face happens to belong to a woman. The appearance of strength, coupled with severity, as it usually is, does not add to the loveliness which is woman's allure.

To judge the shape of a face, it must be observed from the front. In the typical square, the lines from the cheek bones downward are parallel, they neither converge or diverge. The line of the jaw is straight and well defined. Such a face is usually very severe in its expression. Generally the forehead is square, and this adds to the general severity.

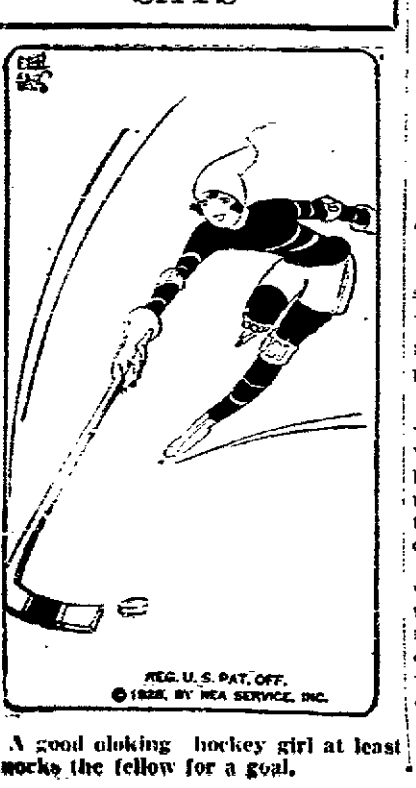

A woman who is of this type should bring art to her rescue to modify the rigidity of her facial outlines. This she may do by studying for herself an exceedingly soft and curving arrangement of her hair. She should draw it from her forehead in the loosest possible manner, and should cultivate the large and undulating wave.

Care must be taken in designing the neckline of her dresses. This should never be square but triangular, or still better, round or oval. In short, every effort should be made to get as far as possible away from the straight line at the neck and in style of hair dressing.

COLLEGE GIRLS GIVE BRIDGE BREAKFASTS

If you want a novel way to entertain your friends, here it is. A bridge breakfast, yes you need to get up early and if your friends are late risers perhaps all of your invitations won't be accepted. Several of the girls societies of the Oshkosh State Teacher's college have given bridge breakfasts recently at which breakfast of fruit, waffles and raisins is served at 9 o'clock and then bridge is played until 1930. Try it some time.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE rubber boot kept on his flight, and then the speeding foot stood still. He feared that might hurt him. He said, "That's why he didn't jump." "Come on you Tines," "Help is what I need. I'm jarred to pieces as this boot goes thumpy-thump."
"Oh, please be patient," Scout said. "Don't yell at us, or lose your head. We all are running just as fast as we know how to run. But your old boot runs faster still. Be careful you don't take a spill. We'll chase it till we lose our breath. This isn't any fun."
So, off the hill the whole bunch went. Of course it was their kind intent to catch the little rubber boot and turn poor Clowey free. The boot looked back. They heard it brag, "Say, this is like a game of tag. I am the one who's it, and all you Tines can't catch me."
"Don't be too certain," Copy cried. "We always do things that are tried."
The Tinesymites got caught in a funny shower in the next story.)

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

DEAREST MOM:

Who in the world do you think I met today? But of course you can guess for it must have been in the papers about Norman Darling coming to visit his aunt.

She has an apartment in the building right next to ours and I didn't even know it! That isn't strange though because I never met her when Norman and I were engaged and naturally I couldn't think of asking him for her address when I married Alan and came to this great city to live.

Norman was coming out of their building as I left ours this morning on my way to look for some orchid bath curtains and we bumped right into each other on the street. At first I thought he wasn't going to speak to me because you know he was simply reduced to gibbering when I flitted him. But I smiled and we got on the bus together and I decided to let my shopping go because Norman looked so sort of sad I felt it was my duty to cheer him up.

It's terrible to be responsible for a broken heart and I'm so happy with Alan that I want to make Norman forget me. I'm sure he will see that's best after we've had a few more talks. I'm going to have lunch with him again tomorrow and try to convince him that I never could have made him happy if we had married.

Today he said there'd never be another girl for him but he was so beautifully calm and resigned about it. I couldn't mind his saying it even if it did sound just a little bit like making love to me. After all, I suppose I really treated him shabbily and if I can help him to enjoy his visit I ought to do it even if he does insist upon raking over the past.

He is going to stay two weeks, he says, so it looks as if I must give up a lot of time to making him happy again. It isn't exactly a hardship, though, to lat around with Norman. He always was nice looking and now that he has that romantically melancholy expression he's just too interesting for words.

Fortunately, Alan and I agreed before we were married that we would continue to have our own friends and see them whenever we liked. So that he's all right. But he will expect dinner sometime tonight so I mustn't tell you any more about Norman now. With dearest love, MARYE.

pleton Stiff Battle in First Half of Game

Kaukauna—About three hundred Kawtown fans traveled to Appleton Tuesday evening to see the Orange and Black play one of its best games of the season against the strong Appleton High school squad. For many the fight shown by the Kawtown in the first half was as good as victory.

Kaukauna was the first to score and throughout the first half outplayed Appleton and led most of the time. Although two lucky baskets at the end of the half threw the Orange and Black into the lead, the Electric City fans who made the trip expected to see a one-sided game but after the first few minutes of play quickly changed their minds. The routing section was in one continuous uproar during that first half while the Appleton section was attempting to figure what had happened. In this hectic period of the game, the Orange and Black were the stars of the team. Sager dribbled up from his guard position and from beyond mid-floor sank a perfect basket. Ester's speed kept him away from the larger opponents and several times he dribbled in under the basket for short shots.

After the first half Appleton came back strong and soon had a substantial lead. The fast game which the two teams put up in the first half tired the Kaws and in last half the team did not have quite the pep and charge it had earlier in the game. The fans were satisfied, however, for it showed considerable improvement over the 22-1 game Appleton played at Kaukauna sometime ago.

REGISTERED, MAYOR TOLD

Kaukauna—Every citizen of Kaukauna will be permitted to vote on election day in April whether he has registered. Mayor W. C. Sullivan said Tuesday afternoon. The mayor received an opinion to that effect from Frank W. Kuehl, assistant attorney general.

The mayor has maintained for some time that voters could vote on election day whether they had registered. This was directly contrary to the voluminous statement issued by Ford Macgregor, secretary of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities, sometime ago. To settle the question, the mayor consulted with the attorney-general's staff at Madison and on Tuesday he received the opinion.

COURAGE OVERCAME PHYSICAL HANDICAP, ROOSEVELT CLAIMS

Lays Aside Crutches and Walks After Battle Lasting Seven Years

New York—The smile of Franklin D. Roosevelt through seven trying years of severe physical handicap was justified the other day. He walked—without crutches—into his New York office and announced he was ready to resume daily direction of a big insurance business.

Through many of those seven years Roosevelt's smile has seemed unwarranted, so contradictory, that it sometimes hurt his friends instead of reassuring them. It was a strong man's defiance of a perverse fate, the evidence of determination to rise above the infirmities of a body that had crumpled under him.

FIERCE FAITH

The smile was a sort of candle burning always before an altar of fierce faith.

Probably no one who attended that famous endurance test of four years ago, the Democratic National convention in New York city, can ever forget Franklin Roosevelt's smile—or his crutches. He was a lion there, but a chained one.

It would be difficult, certainly, to forget that dramatic moment when the suffering Roosevelt made his way to the platform on his crutches and nominated Al Smith as the Democratic presidential nominee.

Until seven years ago, fate had tested Roosevelt only professionally and politically, and he had passed with honors. After graduating from Harvard he practiced law successfully.

For seven years he served as assistant secretary of the Navy, and during the World War he had charge of the inspection of the U. S. naval forces in Europe and the demobilization of our troops.

Then came the crucial test of Roosevelt's spirit. He was stricken by infantile paralysis, and for six weeks was nearer death than alive. Then he was left paralyzed from the waist down. From a strong, healthy athlete, the man, in the prime of life, he was reduced to the helplessness of a baby with shrunk, wasted legs. His mind remained keenly active and he insisted he would get well, but it was generally accepted by doctors and friends that Roosevelt was through.

He declared he felt "fine," even when propped up in bed, and no one has ever heard him say anything else. As soon as feeling returned to his legs he began doing his best to exercise them, but his efforts seemed futile.

FOUNTAIN OF HEALTH

Two years ago he learned of mineral springs in southern Georgia, whose warm waters had proved beneficial in paralysis cases. Roosevelt began taking this treatment. With a life preserver about him, he floated in the waters and moved his legs about as much as he could.

Gradually his strength has returned. He still has steel braces on his legs, and walks with care, but he has discarded crutches. He hopes in time to be able to discard the canes, also.

While bringing himself back by sheer determination and courage, Roosevelt took occasion to aid others similarly afflicted. He raised an endowment fund for a sanitarium in Georgia, and half a hundred other paralysis victims are being treated at cost there now.

He wants to pass his smile on to as many other troubled faces as possible.

SNOW STORMS PROVE EXPENSIVE FOR CITY

The snow storm last week cost the city of Appleton $2,500 for snow removal, according to a report from R. P. Mackinstry, street commissioner. The amount is $500 less than the cost of the first big storm of the winter which occurred last December.

entertainingly told in "The Latest from Paris," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, starring the beautiful Norma Shearer, which will be at Fischer's Appleton Theatre tomorrow and Friday.

It is a comedy drama, supplying Miss Shearer with one of those roles in which she excels, that of a scintillating, efficient, modern girl who beats man in his own profession and then succumbs to the lure of romance, proving her old fashioned femininity after all.

The story tells of a traveling saleswoman, the best on the road. None of her masculine rivals can match her success. Her personality is a mystery. All that is known about her is her name. She is especially hated by a handsome young man, who meets her on the Pullman and mistaking her identity, falls in love. He tells her all about this dreaded rival of his and then gets the shock of his life when he discovers who she really is. Love, however, eventually triumphs after a series of entertaining mishaps.

Miss Shearer is supported by a notable cast, including Ralph Forbes as leading man. Sam Wood directed.

"7th HEAVEN"

"7th Heaven," which local picture lover have been acclaiming as one of the finest screen dramas of years, is nearing the end of its run at the Elite Theatre, where it will have a final showing Friday evening.

This is the picture with which Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, the two leads, created a sensation in both Los Angeles and New York where critics hailed it as the greatest picture shown there this season. It was directed for Fox Films by Frank Borzage, maker of "Humoresque," the great screen success of some years back but in the opinion of those who saw both "7th Heaven" surpasses the former masterpiece in every way.

"THE MAD HOUR"

Elmer Glynn's latest triumph "The Mad Hour" will be the feature attraction at the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday. The cast of this picture, includes Sally O'Neil, Larry Kent, Lowell Sherman and Alice White.

STAGE And SCREEN

RICHARD ARLEN IN LEAD OPPOSITE BEBE DANIELS

When Bebe Daniels gets her man, he stays "go."

Having captured Richard Arlen after the romantic chase over the hot sands in "She's A Sheik," her last tarring comedy for Paramount, Miss Daniels retains Arlen as her leading man in her latest picture, "Feel My Pulse," which will be at Fischer's Appleton Theatre for the last times today.

And thus does Paramount answer the public demand of "We Want Arlen," that has been going up and down Broadway since the opening of "Wings," road-show sensation of all time, in which Arlen has a featured role with Charles Rogers and Clara Bow. Arlen's performance in "Wings" as made him an overnight sensation.

The associate producer of Paramount pictures announced that Arlen could play the lead with Mary Brian in "Under The Tonto Rim," the next one Grey western to be made at the Hollywood studio. This picture was made under the direction of John Ford before production of "Feel My Pulse" started.

NO SINGING IN THIS CHURCH

The senate committee investigating conditions in the Pennsylvania coal fields near Pittsburgh found that a coal company had obtained an injunction from Judge J. N. Langanham (shown in inset) prohibiting striking miners from singing hymns and all other songs around the Magyar Presbyterian church at Rossett, Pa. The photo shows the church and in the lower left-hand corner is the shanty in which an armed guard is stationed to enforce the injunction. # APPLETON HIGH CAGERS RALLY TO BEAT KAUKAUNA, 29-16

Kawmen Outplay Shields Five In Opening Periods But Falter In Last Half

Rafoth, Bowly, Gochbauer Divide Scoring Honors for Fox Terrors

It looked bad for Coach Joseph Shields' Appleton high school basketball team in the first half of a game with its ancient rival, Kaukauna high, Tuesday evening at Army G. but in the final period the Fox Terrors came to life somewhat and held the Kawmen to a single basket and two free throws while scoring 15 points themselves. The first quarter ended 1-0 for the visitors and the half, 11-10 for Appleton. The third period ended with the locals leading 24-14 and the result no longer in doubt. The game ended 29-16 for the Terrors.

Kaukauna came to Army G determined to make a battle of the big game after losing 22-10 on the home floor and they exhibited a fight that gave the spectators plenty of doubt as to the final outcome for some time. Appleton played rated of ball the first half and in fact most of the way and Kaukauna took advantage of the fact in the opening periods. The Kawmen were fighters from start to finish and showed a good eye for the hoop from the field but their free throwing was poor. In the first half each team scored five baskets.

The scoring for Appleton was evenly divided, Bowly leading the way by a sudden spurt in the last half, which netted him four baskets. He also had a free throw. Rafoth dropped for ringers and Gochbauer had three baskets and two free tries. In the final half, the guarding of Johnston and Strutz held Kaukauna to a single basket, yet the pair had just one personal foul the entire game. Appleton made five of eight free throws and Kaukauna made four of twelve. "E" was Appleton's biggest offensive threat, his speedy floorwork, faking and dribbling enabling him to score three baskets from right under the hoop. He also added two free tries for 8 points, but missed six other tries from the foul mark. W. Miller had a basket and two free throws and Farwell and Sager added baskets. Appleton's big advantage with practically assured in the game in the final period, was its ability to outplay the Kawmen under the basket.

Coach Shields found himself suddenly handicapped in a manner that may hurt the local chances against Manitowoc in an important Valley conference game here Friday evening. Popp and Schafer have dropped from the squad and Kruse has left town. Berg developed blood poison in his toe this week and scored three days off, he was not used. When Rafoth and Bowly were removed on fouls, Kneip and Breitrick, sophomore members of the second quint all season, had to be pressed into action and though both looked good they would be of little help against Manitowoc. Berg is the leading forward of the local squad, while Kruse was reserve center.

Kaukauna opened the scoring when W. Miller scored a point on Rafoth's foul but Gochbauer evened the count on Sager's personal. Rafoth took a high floater from midfloor from a teammate by reaching far into the air above his guard's head to count the first ringer from under the hoop. Strutz added a point on M. Miller's foul but Sager scored from midfloor on a beautiful shot. W. Miller counted on a follow shot to give the Kawmen a 5-4 lead as the quarter ended.

Gochbauer regained the lead for Appleton to start the second period on a neat left shot and Esler split two tries on Bowly's foul. Gochbauer missed an easy try from under the hoop due to anxiety but a moment later broke fast and dribbled away from his guard to the hoop for an easy counter. He was fouled on the shot and made one of two free tries. Sager did the fouling. Esler dropped one from midfloor and missed a shot on a double foul with Breitrick. The Orange forward made his try. Farwell knotted the count with a pretty try from the side and Johnston dropped one through from midfloor to give

BREWER BATTERY MEN LEAVE FOR ARKANSAS

Milwaukee—(P)—The first contingent of Milwaukee American Association club players left Milwaukee Wednesday for the Brewers training camp at Hot Springs, Ark. The party included pitchers Edlemann, Humber, Krueger, Eckert and Catcher Thompson.

Bob McMenemy, catcher, arrived Wednesday from his home at St. Paul to talk over salary matters. Club officials expect McMenemy will sign a contract in time to leave with the other players. Manager Jack Leivelt is already at Hot Springs and will put the squad to work as soon as it arrives.

The pitchers and catchers will get a week's practice in before the rest of the Milwaukee crew arrives.

With only a few of the athletes, notably Eddie Piet and Danny Eriq, left at Hot Springs, Leivelt expects to get a running start in the association pennant race.

Biggest Deal of Winter

The trade of Rogers Hornsby by the New York Giants for Catcher Fred Hoscar and Outfielder Jimmy Welsh of Boston was the most important trade of the winter months.

Winnington, Del.—Tommy Dundee, Camden, Del. defeated Al Martin, Baltimore (N).

The Shields five led. Esler knotted the count by outspeeding Johnston to the hoop on a speedy dribble. Johnston scored on Bowly's foul, but Esler was not used. When Rafoth and Bowly were removed on fouls, Kneip and Breitrick, sophomore members of the second quint all season, had to be pressed into action and though both looked good they would be of little help against Manitowoc. Berg is the leading forward of the local squad, while Kruse was reserve center.

Just before the half closed Ferguson scored a point on Rafoth's foul but it was erased when he stopped over the line on the hoop. Rafoth cut the lead half by a fast pivot and dribble in from the side of the floor to the hoop for a basket. Sager missed on Rafoth's foul and Bowly dropped a neat marker. Esler scored for Kaukauna on a pretty follow shot and Gochbauer missed a shot on Sager's foul. Then Bowly broke loose and scored three successive counters. The first he made the third follow after Gochbauer had missed his free throw, then he followed Gochbauer's long try and finally he dribbled in for a clever side shot. The quarter ended with Appleton leading, 24-14, and from then on the local five was never headed.

Rafoth again got the first basket the final period and Esler missed three throws on Bowly's third and fourth personals. W. Miller did the same on Johnston's foul but he counted on Rafoth's fourth personal. Breitrick got a point on Esler's foul and Esler did the same on Breitrick's miss. Gochbauer closed the basket on a nice try on a fast break after an out of bounds play. Kneip missed a throw on Ferguson's foul and Esler did the same for Breitrick before the whistle ended the game.

Expect Donahue, Uhle To Go Brilliantly This Year

BY BILLY EVANS

Whom do you consider the five greatest right-handed pitchers in the major leagues?

If I had been asked that question prior to the opening of the 1927 season, George Uhle of Cleveland and Pete Donahue of Cincinnati certainly would have been included in the list of the big five.

My first reason would have been the remarkable record the two stars had piled up the year previous. Uhle, winning 27 games, Donahue an even 25. Incidentally Uhle had done more work than any other pitcher, finishing a 315 innings and allowing less than three runs per game in 29 contests in which he participated in whole or part. Pete Donahue despite the toughest sort of breaks, had turned in 20 victories for Cincinnati.

My second and more important reason was that having umpired both of Uhle for years and seen Donahue in action many times, I was more than familiar with the wise assortment of stuff they possessed, plus keen pitching minds.

It would have been hard to have dug up two better reasons for naming Uhle and Donahue among the five leading right-handers of the majors. Present and past performances certainly entitled them to such a rating.

opinion that neither George Uhle or Pete Donahue would win 10 ball games for their respective clubs, he would have been the most scoffed at man in the baseball fraternity.

Oh, by the way, more than 25 to 1 would have been offered by those inclined to wager that each done was all well. Anonymous writers and others willing to sign their real name or a fictitious one would have deluged the sports editors of the two Ohio cities with a sanity test.

That is just what happened. George Uhle will win 20 games out of 29 contests while Pete Donahue will win against nine defeats, while Donahue could register only six victories while losing 16 games.

George Uhle, during the 1927 season, fell 19 games short of the number of victories credited to him the previous year, while Donahue was 14 wins off his game.

I still regard George Uhle and Pete Donahue two of the greatest pitchers in the game, regardless of their failure in 1927.

SATURDAY GAMES
2-20 — Kimberly-Clark vs Weber Knits.
8-31 — Co. D vs Kau. Y. M. C. A.

Taking an early lead and holding it to the final whistle, a spite of several strong spurts by their opponents, the Fox River Paper Co. basketball team trounced the Coated Paper quint Tuesday evening in an Appleton Industrial Commercial League game at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium before one of the largest crowds of the season. The final score was 24-18 and by the win the Foxmen pulled up to a virtual tie for first place, each team having lost two games but the Fox crew having played one less. The winners are the only team to have beaten the Coatedmen in league play this year, they turning the trick twice.

The second-place five held a 16-4 lead at the half, holding the Coateds without a single basket, and at the third quarter had increased that lead to 18-2. At the close of the period the losers spurted and three times pulled up to four points of the winners with chances to tie, but each time the Foxmen matched basket for basket, making to a six-point lead just after the Coateds cut it to four. The losers played far below their usual form at times while the winners were "on a searing shoot" from all angles on the floor. In the final minutes, even while rallying, the Coatedmen shot too hurriedly, never waiting to get set but shooting the ball for the hoop almost as soon as it touched their hands. This cost them many possible baskets.

Eggert and Kunitz, star guards on the Coated Five, were removed from the game on personals late in the fray after playing hard defensive battles. Ray Tornow led the winning attack with four baskets and two free throws and Son Tornow was right on his heels with four ringers. Radtke, Frieders and Berro each added a basket and Frieders played a fine floor game. Berro and Bantz worked well on defense.

For the Coateds Reetz had two baskets and three free throws to lead in the scoring. Bowers had one and three free throws, Kneip and Muenster one each with Kneip also counting a free throw.

TAKE LONE THIRD

In the first game of the evening the Bankers broke a tie for third place in the league while their two rivals for the place were idle, trouncing the Muffords from Kaukauna in a hard battle 25-19. The Klunkers had won by a point on the previous encounter. The Bank five took a lead at the half that stood them in good stead, having the long end of a 13-5 count. In the final half the winners outscored the losers by a single point, 11-10.

Herb Voelck led the winners with six baskets and a pair of free throws for 14 of 25 points. Wally Voelck added three ringers and Rube Schultz two and McKenzie had a free throw before going out on personals. Macrorie and Kilgas led the losers, the former having three baskets and a free throw and the latter two and two free tries. Engerson added one of each. Baseman, a basket, Dix a free throw.

STATE PIN TOURNAMENT TO CLOSE ON THURSDAY

Madison—(P)—With the state pin meet rapidly nearing a close, leggers on the drives Tuesday failed to turn in any impressive counts. In the five man event, the Milwaukee Athletic Club team No. 1 made the best count of the day when they rolled 2875 for a place among the money counts.

Other fair team counts for the day were made by the Jones Dairy Five of Port Atkins with 2875, the Bohn Athletic team from Milwaukee with 2552, and the Harry Tobin Fords of Milwaukee with 2826.

In the singles and doubles, counts remained at a low figure throughout the five afternoon shifts, the best two man total being turned in by the Watertown team of W. Kuenzi and A. Krueger with a 1242 count.

In the singles and two man events were turned in for the day, A. Riley of Port Washington getting the high mark with 656 on games of 221, 190, and 243, while C. Larson, also of Port Washington, hit 611 on games of 203, 212, and 228.

The last five man team of the tournament will roll on Wednesday night with Thursday morning and afternoon singles and doubles shifts, closing the twenty-sixth annual meeting.

NEGRO BOXER CLUBS SPANARD FOR WIN

Giant Godfrey Too Big and Heavy for Paolino in Great Scrap

Los Angeles—(P)—George Godfrey, Negro giant of the ring, clubbed his way to a decision over Paolino Lucadun, knotty, muscular son of the Esque country Tuesday night after ten furious rounds that had 40,000 persons on edge throughout the battle.

But Godfrey had no walkaway. Tipping the scales at 225 1/2 pounds, which gave him a 44-pound advantage in weight, he had his hands full from the start.

The black-and-white Spanard, some fading, opened with a kick, but in the early sessions, was not so lively. The little Godfrey, who had his huge back to advantage.

The tide of battle shifted to Lucadun in the sixth. Dazzling the round, he caught Godfrey's foot on the leg with a powerful left hook.

Then the Negro and a reported fighter with his own special record following him around the floor. The Negro landed but a couple of blows through the round.

First-lying, the Esque came out in the seventh to drive his opponent around the ring again. Godfrey was puzzled and hurt as Paolino continued to bore in, punning both inside and outside the body. The crowd cheered wildly for the Spanard as the round ended. The eighth round went the same way with Paolino continuing on the aggressive.

Lashed with the knowledge of impending defeat, Godfrey came out in the ninth to take the play away again. He clubbed the Spanard's head to the back, pressing with a left to the face but had the good chopper from the frontiers 18 edging at the close. The tenth was another Godfrey round, as he pulled another Paolino from new to rope.

Book Of Knowledge

The Pike

The Pike, found in the northern waters of three continents, is a grim terror. The fish reaches four or five feet in length, with a weight of seventy to a hundred pounds, according to legend, but certainly fifty pounds. With its weight are associated great power, huge teeth in the lower jaw, and others in the upper part of the mouth which curve backward.

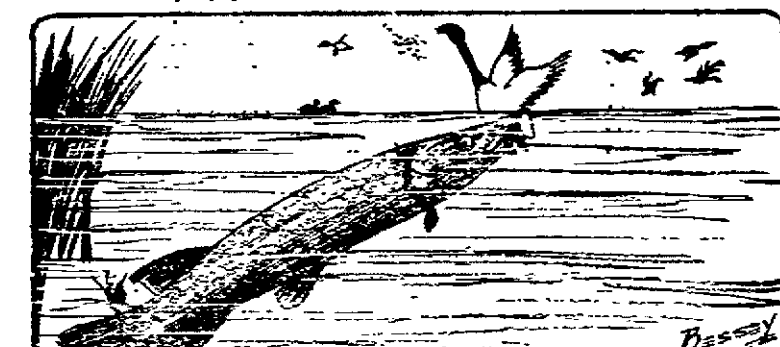

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

Fishermen often have found two pike battling, mouth to mouth. The victor has been known to swallow its adversary alive.

Lurking in the shade, looking like a submerged log, the pike resembles the crocodile. When it makes its dart there is no escape.

Likely as not a pike's prey may be its own young. It may be a rat or water hen or a young salmon going seaward. One was seen to seize a wild duck, then a wood pigeon which fell into the water after being shot by a hunter. Stories about pike slaying dogs and devouring them are not exaggerated. The muskellunge is a cousin of the pike.

CITY PAYS COUNTY $79,000 IN TAXES

Bachman Advances Part of Tax Levy So County Can Meet Payment on Bond Issue

Fred E. Bachman, Appleton city treasurer, will pay $79,000 to the Ontario county treasurer Thursday as advance payment on the city's share of county taxes. The money will be used according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk, to pay off $55,000 on the first $272,000 highway bond issue, due Thursday and also to pay the interest on the first bond issue and interest on the second $272,000 highway bond issue.

The city need not turn over the county taxes until March 22, according to Mr. Hantschel, but Mr. Bachman can pay part of the tax levy in advance, providing the county will pay interest at 2 per cent, which is the interest the banks pay on daily balances.

Mr. Hantschel said if Mr. Bachman did not make an advance payment would have been necessary for the county to borrow $79,000 from the banks.

BRIEF FLASHES FROM LIFE

Washington—Any folks who when getting married in Uncle Sam's capital agree that the husband need not support his wife will be liable to a maximum of five years in the house, if Congress does as desired by Representative William C. Hammer of North Carolina. His bill so denies companionate marriage.

Peking—Marriage for bachelors and divorce for married men are forbidden by Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, "the Christian General." His reason is that some of the modern Chinese bachelors are so attractive that romance is displacing enthusiasm for the revolution.

Berlin—The Reichstag judicial committee favors easier divorce. It proposes to sanction decrees where the parties have lived apart five years by agreement or where after one year of separation a continuance of married life cannot be expected.

Camden, N. J.—A course in etiquette and social graces has been abandoned by the Camden Y. W. C. A. Nobody enrolled.

New York—Julia Holt, society beauty, who went off the stage, knows no beauty secrets. "Perhaps ten years from now I'll be a sight," she said over the radio, "but just the same I go on breaking the rules."

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(P)—Mrs. Catherine Fenton, who in her 10th year, has had an airplane ride, says she was just as excited about it as when she had her first sweetheart.

Chicago—Joe Letter's hobby is cooking. He has sent to friends a copy of his book of recipes, all of which he has tried himself.

New York—Comes from the convention of the New York custom cutters club a tabulation showing that the well dressed man may continue such this spring for an expenditure of only $2,282—$2,655 for suits and overcoats, $12,250 for shoes, $50 for hats and $415.50 for accessories.

Chicago—There's to be a fire station on the site of the O'Leary homestead. That you know, is where the cow started things.

30,000 FIRE BURNS BUILDINGS AT WAUSAU

CITY RECEIVING BIDS FOR SPRING PAVING

SLOPPY PAVEMENTS HELP BUSINESS FOR LAUNDRY, CLEANERS

Boot blacks, cleaners and laundries are reaping their annual harvest at the expense of Appleton people as a result of the melting snow on city streets.

It is almost impossible to cross the street without splashing water over your shoes and then, too, there is always the hurrying motorists with his balloon tires to help take the joy out of life.

Cleaners and laundry men say business is generally good during the spring thaw but boot blacks complain that people are beginning to give up hope of keeping their footwear looking neat.

GOODLAND DROPS OUT OF MAYORALTY RACE

Council Wants to Have Court Determine Legality of Nomination Papers

In the printing of ballots, the circuit court of the proper county, or the presiding judge, thereof, may, upon application by any elector, by order, summarily require the county or city clerk to correct such error, or to show cause why it should not be corrected, and by order cause such correction to be made forthwith after such hearing.

The city attorney said that if the clerk had kept the names off the ballot any elector might ask the circuit court for an opinion. The local case is somewhat different in that the city clerk has accepted the nomination papers and will file the names on the ballot until ordered not to do so by a court. It was the city attorney's opinion, however, that the same action, filing of an affidavit with the court by any elector asking for an opinion on the matter, would be legal and proper.

JUSTICE TO VOTERS

"We must do justice to the voters and not put a cloud over the entire election," Alderman Philip Vogt, Sixth ward, stated when he took the floor asking that some action be started. "Intimations have been made that the whole thing is framed," he said.

Alderman Dickert and McGillan said they believed it was the desire of the council to see the matter settled. They suggested that someone outside the group file an affidavit with the judge of circuit court.

No one moved to take official action on the suggestion and the discussion continued with the city clerk, maintaining he had interpreted the law to the best of his knowledge and ability, and Alderman Vogt imploring the council to take action. When the discussion quieted down, Alderman George Richard moved an adjournment and the motion carried.

Man Who Confessed Selling Stolen Property Must Serve Term in Reformatory

Hern York, Appleton, pleaded guilty of having possession of stolen property when brought before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Wednesday morning and was sentenced to from one to two years in the state reformatory at Green Bay.

He had previously denied his guilt and a jury had been drawn and District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf was ready to prosecute the case Wednesday morning.

A $250 wrist watch, stolen from the residence of Dr. V. F. Marshall, 604 E. North-st, on Sept. 13, 1926, by an Appleton youth who later confessed, brought about York's arrest. The watch was recovered from a furniture dealer at Green Bay to whom York had sold it for $25. Information supplied by the boy who stole the watch was responsible for its recovery.

York was not arrested until Jan. 9 when he came to Appleton from Chicago to visit his mother. He told police here at the time that he had been attending the university of Chicago.

EVEN POTATO PEELER ON NEW OCEAN LINER RUN BY ELECTRICITY

New Floating Palace Marks Revolution from Throbbing Steamers of Old

Within the hull of the new ocean liner California is an electric power plant that marks a revolution from the throbbing, grimy and noisy engine room of old.

Here two massive turbines, driven by steam from a dozen oil burners, generate electricity to operate everything aboard and drive the ship's two massive propellers. From pilot house to hull everything is electrically operated and as clean as a household kitchen.

This innovation in shipping is now on duty between New York and San Francisco via the Panama Canal. Its electrical equipment is by the General Electric Company at Schenectady, N. Y.

The boat is the largest American-built liner and can set the pace for many ocean vessels. Besides, it is said to be the world's largest commercial vessel with electric propulsion.

CUTS DOWN TIME

With a length of 601 feet, breadth of 80 feet and hull depth of 52 feet, the California has a capacity for 8,000 tons of freight and 750 passengers. Her maximum speed is nearly 22 land miles an hour, at which rate she is expected to chip two days from the existing passage of 15 days from New York to San Francisco.

The two massive steam turbines that drive her generators are rated at nearly a maximum capacity of 5,500 horsepower each. The electricity generated by the motors driven by the turbines has a maximum rating of 6,600 kilowatts at 4,000 volts.

From these generators go cables to two motors, each driving a tremendous shaft to its propeller. At the same time, the alternating current generated in the hull is distributed through the ship, for baking, cooking, heating and lighting, radio and telephone communication.

COMPLETE ELECTRIFICATION
The deck winches for handling freight are operated by electricity. Refrigeration is by electricity. Eggs are boiled and steaks fried by electricity.

Electricity, generated by the ship's own motors, mixes dough and bakes bread in the ship's own bakery, slices potatoes, washes dishes, runs the ship's clocks and the printing presses. It furnishes heat and runs the ventilating system.

Through the radio direction finder, the electric steering device known as "metal mike," the bridge telegraph system and other means of control, electricity is used to operate the ship. Loud speaker connections are available throughout for the enjoyment of passengers from the central receiving set in the radio room.

For this purpose the power created by the two turbines is tremendous. Engineers estimate it at 20,000 horsepower, or 15,000 kilowatts. They say this power, if applied to a freight train, would haul 2,000 cars weighing 52,000 tons at the rate of 15 miles an hour. It is enough to provide eight times the energy required to operate the Panama Canal.

Yet, seated in the dining room or drawing room of the California, a passenger can scarcely believe he is on a sailing vessel. There's no throbbing, pulsating effect. Only a rough sea could bring the voyager back to the realization that he isn't on land.

Down below, the clean, quiet oil burners replace the sooty and stuffy furnace rooms of coal-burning ships.

A DOCTOR'S ADVICE GO LIGHT ON LAXATIVES!

Everyone needs a laxative AT TIMES. But there's no need for making it a HABIT. If you have the habit, you can be rid of it in thirty days. Or less! And this is how.

The next time you go to take any strong cathartic—don't. Instead, take a little Cascarets. That's not a vicious drug, but the bark of a tree. The laxative made with cascara couldn't harm a child. It is, in fact, the one cathartic many physicians will approve for children. Gentle as it is, cascaring is just as thorough in cleansing the colon as the more powerful purges that actually sap a person's strength.

Proof that there's no habit from cascara begins the very day after taking. Instead of being clogged worse than ever, the bowels are more inclined to move OF THEIR OWN ACCORD. You may have to take cascara several times to establish regularity. But the times you need this gentle stimulus grow further apart. And you NEVER find you must increase the amount.

Cascara's ideal form is the candy-cascaret that pleases any palate, and you'll find them at the first drugstore you ask.

2 WEEKS LEFT FOR FILING RETURNS ON STATE INCOME TAX

Delinquents Will Be Assessed $5 After March 15, Assessor or Says

Slightly more than two weeks remain for Outagamie-county taxpayers to file state income tax returns without a $5 penalty, according to Leo G. Toonen, income tax assessor. The last date for filing returns is March 15 and all who file after that date will be assessed $5 in addition to their regular tax, Mr. Toonen said.

Mr. Toonen and his deputies will continue to help taxpayers fill out returns until March 15. After that date, Mr. Toonen said, the deputies will give advice but no blanks will be filled out at the assessor's office. All those who want the assessor or his deputies to make out their returns must report at the courthouse before March 15.

Office hours are from 10 to 12 o'clock in the morning and 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The office is closed Saturday afternoons.

Taxpayers need not worry about figuring the amount of tax they will have to pay as that work is done by Mr. Toonen and his staff. Each taxpayer's return is checked, the amount of tax is determined and a tax stamp is placed up and given to the taxpayer for collection.

Mr. Toonen pointed out that he and his deputies must have this tax stamp by June 1 and for that reason would not be possible for his office to assist taxpayers after March 15. He said more than 12,000 returns must be checked over and the amount of tax determined.

Approximately 4,000 people have filed returns up to Tuesday. This is

LEGION WANTS MARKS FOR PASSING FLIERS

National Body Urges Towns and Communities Use Identification Marks

Although American Legion posts throughout the state are adding to their movement to mark towns of communities for passing aviators, Appleton Legionnaires believe the city of Appleton is adequately marked by the sign on the local high school. Members of the legion during the war also are necessary for the present time no action will be taken.

The first move to identify cities and towns was started by the national legion in 1919. It has since been more than one-third of the total number of towns in the state.

Marked towns with a net income of $100,000 or over and a single man with a net income of $1,000 or over must file a return, Mr. Toonen said.
